JUST ISSUED!

STORMS:

THEIR NATURE, CLASSIFICATION, AND LAWS.

With the means of predicting them, principally from their embodiments, the clouds. By WILLIAM BLASIUS, formerly Professor of the Natural Sciences in the Lyceum of Hanover. Illustrated with two colored plates, eight full-page plates, and twenty-three figures, maps, etc. Crown 8vo, cloth extra, $2.50.

The system developed in this volume is simple, practical, and comprehensive; it is readily intelligible to the ordinary reader, and teaches an easy, scientific, and, for ordinary purposes, effective method of foretelling weather changes from the different forms of the clouds.

PROF. J. P. LESLEY, of the University of Pennsylvania, in speaking of the subject, says: "My feeling now is that you have discovered the key to most of its more practically important mysteries."

COMMODORE GUEST, of the U. S. Navy, says: "Prof. Blasius has, I believe, found the true theory of storms."

THE BETTER SELF.

ESSAYS FOR HOME LIFE.

By J. HAIN FRISWELL. Author of "The Gentle Life," etc. Crown 8vo, fine paper, cloth extra, black and gold, gilt top or full red edges, $1.75.

"'The Gentle Life' is in a twenty-first edition, and we know of no reason why 'The Better Self' should not sell equally as well."—London Athenæum.

TWO NEW NOVELS. JUST ISSUED.

OLDBURY.

A Novel of English Life. By ANNIE KEARY, author of "Janet's Home," etc. 12mo, cloth, black and gold, $1.50; paper, $1; "International Series," No. 12, $1.25.

A charming story, delicate and refined, with a strong and dramatic plot. It will be very popular.

AT CAPRI.

A Story of Artist Life in Italy. By CARL DETLEF, author of "Valentine, the Countess," etc. 12mo, cloth, black and gold, $1.50; paper, $1; "International Series," No. 13, $1.25.

Fully equal to "Valentine, the Countess," and will exceed the popularity, even, of that book. The scene of the story is laid in some of the most beautiful parts of Italy.

NOTES IN SEASON.

THERE will be a regular meeting of the Central Booksellers' Association, Tuesday, June 8th.

THE Harpers have just ready the American edition (by arrangement) of Carlyle's recent book on the "Early Kings of Norway" and the portraits of John Knox; "Our Mutual Friend," in the illustrated Household edition; and a new novel by Jas. Payn in the brown-covered series, "Walter's Word."

PORTER & COATES have just ready Prof. Blasius's important and long-promised work on "Storms; Their Nature, Classification, and Laws, with the means of predicting them by their Embodiments, the Clouds." This work is presented with recommendations by the highest scientific authorities as being the most reliable theory of the explanation of storms that has ever been advanced. A number of interesting diagrams and colored illustrations are included in the book, adding much to its value. "Oldbury," by Annie Keary, is also ready in the International Series of Novels.

OWING to a seeming dislike of some booksellers to books with uncut edges, Messrs. R. Worthington & Co. beg to announce that they have imported an edition of Taine's "English Literature" (4 vols.), in brown cloth, with the edges cut.

"A NORSEMAN'S Pilgrimage," by Prof. H. H. Boyesen, of Cornell University, and author of "Gunnar," will soon be published by Sheldon & Co. It is not only a charming novel, but a most beautiful picture of Norse life. "Love Afloat," the story of the American navy published by the house, is having a large sale.

MESSRS. JOHN WILEY & SON have in press and will shortly issue a new edition of Fresenius' "Qualitative Analysis," revised by Prof. S. W. Johnson, of Yale College. This work contains additional plates, a new nomenclature which will be found very valuable, and additional matter. The work is practically thus completed, arranged, and brought down to the latest dates. The price will be $4.50.

THOSE who are looking to find what may be known about Bunker Hill will do well to consult Bulletin No. 33 of the Boston Public Library (April), which contains a capital summary of books and papers on the battle. These articles in the Bulletin are of the highest bibliographical value.

MRS. JULIA WARD HOWE has written an advanced juvenile story, entitled "The Moore Family."

J. SABIN & SONS are about to reproduce in exact fac-simile Cruikshank's "My Sketch-Book." A few copies will be printed on India paper.

THE Osgoods have now about ready Miss Larcom's new poem, which, under title of "An Idyl of Work," pictures New-England factory life, as she recalls it, thirty years ago. This Miss Larcom is peculiarly well fitted to do, as in early life she herself was one of the "sisterhood," and has already most admirably shown her sympathy with struggling womanhood in her "Hannah Binding Shoes."

STATIONERY NOTES

WE have received from A. M. Collins, Son & Co., Philadelphia, a fine assortment of sample cards consisting of bristol-board, repp, damask, and enameled cards, also samples of orient and ornate cards, and Bavarian borders. We desire to call special attention to these goods, as their quality and style is such as to recommend them to all. Messrs. Collins have also a large assortment of "carte de visite" mounts of all qualities, colors, and styles. The designs of the more ornamental cards are certainly very artistic, and superior in point of elegance to any others in the market. These cards are made suitable for every possible purpose, and may be had at prices that should commend them to every one.

THE Case-Record Company, 224 Laurel st., Cincinnati, Ohio, have issued a new medical chart for private and hospital use. The design of the chart is to enable the attendant physician to make a correct record of the temperature, pulse, respiration, etc., of the patient, with the least possible trouble or delay. The chart also contains blank spaces for a complete registration of the patient, together with a history and diary of the case. These charts sell for 5 c. each, 50 c. per dozen, or $3 per hundred.

Before the Convention.

THE number of notifications to the Committee on Assemblies that keep pouring in causes the expectation that the number of persons present at the Niagara Convention, and entitled, under the call of the Committee, to the floor, will be several times as many as at Put-in Bay. Each one of these is likely to come with opinions of his own, opinions to a certain extent unformed by discussion with others; and, while it is one of the purposes of the Convention that these opinions should be brought in conflict with each other, for the sake of the survival of the fittest, it must be seen that a full expression, even from the smaller proportion who are commonly spokesmen, would take up most if not all of the time that can be allotted to the meeting. To attain useful measures, as much of this work as possible must therefore be done before the Convention. During the five weeks that precede the meeting, we must make the most of our time.

Now, to do any thing effective, those who come to the Convention must come in a spirit of willingness to yield notions of their own, should the interests of the trade necessitate other measures than those they favor. The booksellers, for instance, may easily outvote the publishers, and yet a vote that, though a majority vote of the Convention, should still be a class vote, would be vox et preterea nihil. On the other hand, the publishers, holding a majority of capital and controlling the trade goods, can not wisely or safely disregard the interests of the retailing class because a narrow policy makes it seem selfishly desirable. In fact, the vote of the Convention, to be something more than a vote, must express not the demand of a numerical majority, but an agreement, or compromise, if needs be, of those on both sides who have both the power and the will to carry out their conclusions. With such an understanding as this, the vote of the Convention becomes practical law to the trade.

The chief issue of the Convention will be, of course, whether it is necessary for the present to adhere to the Put-in Bay platform, modifying, it may be, its many exceptions into simpler and more definite provisions; or whether it is possible to carry out the more sweeping reform, whose proposal unfortunately blocked the reform the year past. It is scarcely necessary for us again to define our position; we believe that a retail price should mean a retail price, and that the most sweeping reform that can be put in practice is the right one. Nevertheless, there are those in the trade who believe that the broad platform of permitting no discounts whatever can not be lived up to, that at present circumstances would make it a dead letter, and that, in place of the whole loaf, we should have no bread. We must say that much of the argument on this side is, "You can't because you can't." But, on the other hand, some of the most clear-headed people, and the most anxious for reform, still suggest that the library and educational interests make our own position untenable. An especial difficulty with the school-book publishers is that the trade are not always their largest buyers, and that, by dealing directly with school-boards, the whole credit of a community is pledged to the contract. This is an element in commercial policy which deserves consideration. It is, to our minds, a false system of doing business, and, after all, unwise; for the publisher must pay somebody else than the bookseller to get the books introduced, and no more books are sold after all. But to the view of the school-book publisher it is naturally a strong point, and we mention it here as fair argument.

Now all this should be discussed pro and con before the Convention, and we ask members of the trade to discuss it frankly in letters. This will save a great many words and much waste of time and temper at Niagara,—and then the trade may have time to see the sights! So let those who have speeches ready "boil them down," and fire off the boiling water at our expense, instead of the Convention's. Then, when they come together, they will already be a day or two advanced in the work, for they will be ready to understand each other. The trade is anxious to hear that every body interested is coming to the Convention, but it should be still more anxious that once there they should be willing to yield for the common good.

A PRACTICAL issue in the underselling question has arisen in Philadelphia. General Sherman's Memoirs are being sold both by subscription and through the trade, and in that city the agents reported that they could do nothing, because the bookstores were both selling and advertising the work at 20 off. The Messrs. Appleton thereupon notified the trade in Philadelphia that they should not sell any further copies to any house there, except under guarantee that retail prices would be maintained; and several of the New-York jobbers have followed the house in this action. Only one house was willing to give the guarantee under the circumstances, another alleging that since they had advertised to sell the work at $4.40, they could not then recede! We suppose the Philadelphia trade, in the present loose state of things, can get around the difficulty; but we are glad to see a definite step forward in the right direction. To be sure, it was to protect agents, but by and by the bookseller may receive equal protection.

MR. LEAVITT sends us the names of over thirty leading New-York houses who will sell at the Exchange, including the largest and foremost houses; he had not completed his canvass of other cities. Many of these announce their intention to sell all they can, by giving liberal terms to induce large sales. They will thus give the new plan a full and fair trial, "and if the booksellers do not sustain it, it will be their own fault." We are authorized to state, to set right a division of opinion, that George A. Leavitt & Co. will indorse all notes paid out by them.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

The interests of the trade can not be better served, than by a full discussion by its members of all questions which affect it. Our columns are always open to communications on any such subject, provided they be brief and suggestive, and we cordially invite the trade to express any suggestions or opinions of interest or value in "Letters to the Editor."

Underselling in Stationery.

CHARLESTON, S. C., May 25, 1875.

To the Editor of the Publishers' Weekly:

DEAR SIR: I inclose a part of a circular sent to one of our dry-goods houses here, by the largest dry-goods house in New-York, dated May 15th, 1875. The book business, as you well know, has been nearly ruined by underselling, and now that those engaged in it have been endeavoring to substitute stationery, etc., to keep them from bankruptcy, this wealthy house comes down here to monopolize that, and prevent our neighbors from dealing with us. Please publish a copy of the extract I send you.

LAST LETTERS FROM EGYPT, by Lady Duff Gordon. With a Memoir by her daughter, Mrs. Ross. (Macmillan & Co.) The record of Lady Duff Gordon's sojourn in Egypt is as vivid and fascinating as a volume of fiction. She was forced through ill health to make it her home for a number of years; separated from her family and all she loved, she bore her expatriation with a noble fortitude and resignation, touching and beautiful to all who witnessed it. She became so endeared to the Arabs, through her goodness and kindness, and the real interest she was inspired with for all their hopes and sufferings, that her memory will remain with them forever—as one set apart by heaven as their special benefactor. Her letters describe her life there most minutely, and give an insight into the Arabian character almost impossible to be gleaned from any other volume of travel. The book can be recommended highly, as fresh and original in style, and as containing matter of more than ordinary interest. 12mo, cloth, $2.

THE ELEUSINIAN AND BACCHIC MYSTERIES. A Dissertation, by Thomas Taylor. (J. W. Bouton.) This learned treatise is devoted to explaining the hidden mysteries of the Greek orgies, and the other peculiar observations of this nation, which represented their spiritual life. 8vo, cloth, $3.

CHRISTIAN MISSIONS, by Rev. Julius H. Seelye. (Dodd & Mead.) The vast and almost incredible amount of good which Christian missions throughout the world have achieved, is the principal subject of this work. The depravity and immorality of countries where the word of God has not been preached, is also expatiated upon, with the best methods of reaching the minds and hearts of the people. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

LITTLE CHRISTIE AND HER FRIENDS. (Henry Hoyt.) A story of wedded life, and a husband's neglect and indifference. Though gotten up as a juvenile, it is really more appropriate for the perusal of staid, married folks, than for little ones. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

MARGERY'S CHRISTMAS BOX, by Ruth Elliott. (Henry Hoyt.) An episode in the lives of two little girls. A sad story, though exceedingly well written. 12mo, cloth, 75 cents.

BIBLICAL STANDPOINT, by Asa Wilbur. (A. Williams & Co.) A second revised and enlarged edition. The author presents his views here of the sonship of Christ, and of the doctrine of the Atonement. They differ somewhat from the accepted ones. 12mo, cloth, $1.

WOLF RUN; OR, THE BOYS OF THE WILDERNESS, by Elijah Kellogg. (Lee & Shepard.) A tale of early frontier life in Pennsylvania, relating the hardships and dangers of a party of settlers, and their many encounters with the Indians. Belonging to the "Forest Glen Series." Illustrated, 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

OCEAN-BORN; OR, THE CRUISE OF THE CLUBS, by Oliver Optic. (Lee & Shepard.) The sixth and last volume of the "Yacht Club Series," and, like its predecessors, an independent story. Many old friends, however, will be found in it, and the same amount of sea and land adventures as the rest of the series contain, and even of a more romantic character, if possible. Illustrated, 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

A DOUBLE STORY, by George Macdonald. (Dodd & Mead.) In the garb of a very pretty fairy tale, Mr. Macdonald seeks to instil into young readers' minds some deep moral lessons and a few divine truths. The story will prove attractive to both young and old, though the young folks will probably not penetrate its deepest meaning. Gotten up uniform with the "Saunterer's Series." 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

ALICIA WARLOCK, by Wilkie Collins. (W. F. Gill & Co.) "Alicia Warlock" is only one of a number of stories which this volume contains. It is in Collins' usual thrilling and tragic style, full of mystery and strange incidents. The other stories are in the same vein. 8vo, paper, 75 cents.

THREE FEATHERS, by William Black. (Harper & Brothers.) Mr. Black's new novel will compare favorably with his previous productions. If not quite up to the "Princess of Thule," in its descriptive parts, it excels it even as a story. No one who takes it up will want to omit a word of it—it is so full of a tender interest from first to last. 8vo, paper, $1.

A CRITICAL NEW TESTAMENT, GREEK AND ENGLISH, WITH LEXICON. (John Wiley & Son.) This new edition of the New Testament consists of the Greek text of Scholz, with the readings, both textual and marginal, of Griesbach, and the variations of the editions of Stephens, 1550; Beza, 1598; and the Elzevir, 1633; with the English authorized version, according to the first edition of 1611, and its marginal renderings. The Greek-English Lexicon, which completes the work, is a new edition, with additions and alterations, revised by the Rev. Thomas Sheldon Green, M.A. $4; half morocco, $6.

LITTLE CLASSICS, edited by Rossiter Johnson. FORTUNE. (James R. Osgood & Co.) The twelfth and last volume of this attractive little series is now out; it contains "The Gold-Bug," by Edgar Allan Poe; "The Fairy-Finder," by Samuel Lover; "Murad the Unlucky," by Maria Edgeworth; "The Children of the Public," by Edward Everett Hale; "The Rival Dreamers," by John Banim; and "The Threefold Destiny," by Nathaniel Hawthorne. 16mo, cloth, $1.

THE BETTER SELF, by J. Hain Friswell. (Porter & Coates.) The aim of these essays is to inspire a higher ideal to strive for in the intimate relations of home life. They are simple and homely in tone, but imbued with a good deal of common sense, and a bright, cheerful spirit, which renders them very readable and attractive. The volume is very handsomely gotten up. 12mo, cloth, $1.75.

THE MOUNTAIN OF THE LOVERS, with Poems of Nature and Tradition, by Paul H. Hayne. (E. J. Hale & Sons.) The South claims Mr. Hayne as one of her most gifted poets. He has for years been a contributor to the magazines. His poems are collected now for the first time in book form. They number many of rare beauty and unusual merit. The book is very neatly gotten up. 12mo, cloth, gilt edges, $1.50.

THE LATIN SUBJUNCTIVE, by R. F. Pennell. (John Allyn.) A little manual for the use of preparatory schools, containing in clear and concise language the outlines of the Latin subjunctive. 16mo, paper, 30 cents.

FRAGMENTS, by William B. Greene. (Lee & Shepard.) These fragments are socialistic, communistic, mutualistic, and financial in tone. They are gathered from the published works of Mr. Greene, and serve to illustrate his peculiar ideas on several much-talked-of subjects. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

THE Happy Hours Co. has added eight new plays to its "Acting Drama" Series. Their names will be found in full in our list. They include farces, burlettas, and comedies. Paper, 15 cents each.

LINGARD'S HISTORY OF ENGLAND, ABRIDGED: With a continuation, from 1688–1854, by James Burke, Esq.; and an Appendix to 1873. The whole preceded by a memoir of Dr. Lingard, and marginal notes by M. J. Kerney, A.M. (John Murphy & Co.) This is the third revised and enlarged edition of a much-esteemed and well-known text-book. It will be found full of interest to the general reader, as it claims to deal truthfully and impartially with the religious spirit of the early times of England. The reader will have to judge of that for himself, remembering the author was a prelate of the Roman church. 8vo, cloth, $3.50.

LITERARY AND TRADE NEWS.

Old and New is no more. It is, of course, Scribner's that "consolidates" it, and Mr. Hale is to write a serial for that magazine.

E. P. DUTTON & Co. have issued their Hymnal with Canticles (by Goodrich & Gilbert) in a new and very rich binding of striking attractiveness.

THE recent death of M. Levy, who founded the celebrated publishing house which bears his name, in 1836, loses to France one of its most eminent members of the book trade.

THE Athenæum speaks of Cassel's Library of English Literature, edited by Prof. H. Morley, as likely to prove "superior to any work of the kind which has been put before the general public. The style of the introduction is somewhat pompous and clumsy, but the pieces selected are interesting, and the notes are full of useful information."

MR. TENNYSON has, at last, sent to the press the drama which he has had so long on hand. It will be published shortly by Messrs. H. S. King & Co. It is entitled "Queen Mary: a Drama," and embraces the life of Mary Tudor, from her accession to her death, together with the chief scenes in her reign.

A MEMOIR of General Burgoyne, from the pen of Mr. Barrington de Fonblanque, nephew of the late Albany Fonblanque, will shortly appear. It will contain many unpublished letters of the most eminent English and American statesmen of the time.

SOME further portions of the journals of Charles Mayne Young, and of those of his editor, the late Rev. Julian Young, containing many anecdotes of his contemporaries, are soon to be published abroad.

M. H. MONCEAUX publishes a monthly review, entitled Bibliographie de la Belgique, Journal Officiel de la Librairie, giving a list of all the books, musical publications, engravings, lithographs, photographs, and maps issued in Belgium, etc

WE learn from the Athenæum that an admirable catalogue of works relating to Africa and Arabia has been published by M. Jean Gay, Member of the National Institute of Geneva, under the following title:—"Bibliographie des Ouvrages Relatifs à l'Afrique et à l'Arabie: Catalogue Méthodique de tous les Ouvrages Français et des Principaux en Langues Etrangères traitant de la Géographie, de l'Histoire, du Commerce, des Lettres, et des Arts de l'Afrique et de l'Arabie." This work, printed at Turin, and published at San Remo, forms a useful supplement to the "Bibliothèque Asiatique et Africaine," of M. Ternaux-Compans, which includes only books published to the end of the seventeenth century.

THE London Bookseller, for May, gives a considerable list of literary pseudonyms from the time of Sir Walter Scott. Mr. Philes states that he has collected 15,000 items for his larger work.

THE English trade papers mention a new substance for binding, called Leatherede, which is, to use the patentee's words, "a pressed felt, made of long fibre, and ingrained from a mould taken from a real skin." It is stated to be stronger and cheaper than roan leather, and is about one fourth to one sixth the price. The patent "Leatherede" is as strong as leather, and does not fade like cloth: it is also water-proof. The Publishers' Circular says: "The specimens before us seem to bear out these assertions, and are certainly worth trying. The substance may be new to England, but a similar one has been long known in Japan; and we have specimens of a thick paper leather made into purses and tobacco-pouches, which have borne constant wear, and which, to most persons, was undistinguishable from leather itself. It does not tear, and a portion bitten by a young dog was reduced to a thick tough pulp, somewhat like leather. If the patentees have discovered any substance as good as the one spoken of, it will be a boon to the public."

THE London Bookseller, in speaking of the "American Catalogue," says: "In America, as in England, there is much apathy on the subject of bibliography; booksellers begrudge the money, and make any shift rather than purchase a catalogue. The 'American Catalogue,' however, should be regarded as a national affair, and we shall hope to hear that the publisher has received, not only the names of all the chief booksellers throughout the Union and Dominion, but that every town and every college library has had its name put down for a copy."

THE Society of Booksellers of Edinburgh dined together recently at their annual meeting. Upwards of fifty members and guests were present, the guests including the Lord Provost of Edinburgh, and many gentlemen connected with literature and art. The Society was founded in 1792.

THE general index to the Revue des Deux Mondes ("Table Générale—1831–1874") makes a volume of 477 pages of the size and type of the Revue itself (New-York: F. W. Christern). An introduction traces the history of this periodical from its commencement.

THE Athenæum, speaking of the recent verdict against it for a review, says, "Unluckily, verdicts do not always depend upon reason in England any more than in Scotland. Mr. Whitaker, of the Bookseller, has just been condemned to pay fifty pounds for a simple typographical blunder—a blunder such as no printer can hope always to avoid." The Edinburgh publishers are said to be so dissatisfied with the verdict given against the Athenæum that the 1275*l.* would be subscribed in Edinburgh, if it would accept the money.

THE NIAGARA CONVENTION.

All who expect to attend the Convention of the American Book Trade Association, (to meet at Niagara Falls, July 13th,) are urgently requested to send their names to this Committee before the first of June.

As there is reason to believe the attendance will be very large, the Committee can not undertake to be responsible for the accommodation of any who do not comply with this request.

The special rates of fare to be obtained from the railroad companies will also depend somewhat upon the number whom it is ascertained will be present.

The Committee are in hopes, if numbers justify, to obtain reduced fares for round tickets, from all the principal points, and return. Special arrangements have already been made to transport the Convention in a body, after the close of its deliberations, to the Book Fair in New-York.

A certificate from this Committee will be necessary to obtain the reduced fares and hotel accommodations arranged for.

THE Book Fair Supplement.

NOTICE TO CONTRIBUTORS.

By suggestion of the Committee, the UNIFORM TRADE-LIST ANNUAL will be generally used for making up Price-Lists at the forthcoming

Booksellers' Exchange and Clearing-House, which will open July 19.

To bring the Trade-List Annual up to date, and give all further necessary information the widest circulation, a SUPPLEMENT to the Publishers' Weekly, devoted exclusively to the interests of the Book Fair, will be prepared at once, and be ready for distribution by the middle of June.

Its chief object is to give contributors to the Book Fair opportunity to bring to prompt and prominent notice of the entire book trade—

1. Lists of Recent Publications issued since last fall.
2. Special Lines of Books to which Publishers wish to give prominence.
3. Lines of Miscellaneous Goods formerly represented at the Trade Sales.
4. Special Notices, Inducements, and Appeals to Purchasers.

In addition to the above, the SUPPLEMENT is to contain general, official, and editorial information regarding the organization of the Booksellers' Exchange and Clearing-House, such as

A List of Officers, Rules and Regulations, etc.

The SUPPLEMENT will be issued in the general style of the Publishers' Weekly, and a copy will be sent

To each Subscriber to the Weekly.
To each Subscriber to the Annual.
To the Regular Visitors of the Trade Sales, and all those to whom Trade Sale Catalogues used to be sent by the Messrs. Geo. A. Leavitt & Co.

The SUPPLEMENT will be mailed immediately on publication, in order to give Booksellers ample time to peruse it and make preparatory notes, with a view to purchase.

The SUPPLEMENT will, moreover, be liberally distributed at the Niagara Convention, and finally, a full supply will be kept for daily distribution at the Salesrooms, where it will be generally used as a Hand-Book of the Fair.

The success of the "Booksellers' Exchange and Clearing-House" will entirely depend on a full representation of the trade at the first meeting. A liberal indorsement of the enterprise on the part of Publishers and Manufacturers will send many to Niagara who might not go without the extra inducement of the Book Fair; and many from there to New-York, who would not have come but for the Convention.

The SUPPLEMENT is to carry such indorsement to every live Bookseller in the land.

To the Book Trade
OF THE United States.

The Officers of the American Book Trade Association call the attention of the Booksellers throughout the country to the necessity of earnest and united co-operation by the whole trade that they may fully accomplish the work they have undertaken.

To this end, they most earnestly ask the members of the trade who have not already done so, to connect themselves with the Association, and by their presence at the next convention, to be held at Niagara Falls, July 13th, 1875, identify themselves with the reform.

Booksellers may become members of the Association, by remitting the dues (Two Dollars) to the undersigned, or to the Treasurer, TIMOTHY NICHOLSON, Esq., Richmond, Ind., and authorizing the signature of their names to the Constitution.

It is expected that the several Committees will be prepared to present their reports, upon the assembling of the convention.

A preliminary meeting of the Officers of the American Book Trade Association will be held at the International Hotel, Niagara Falls, on Tuesday morning, July 13th, at nine A.M., at which all the Officers are expected to be present.

WHAT AND HOW TO READ:

A GUIDE TO RECENT ENGLISH LITERATURE, containing a Minutely Classified List of the Best Books published in England and America during the past five years; with Critical Remarks and Suggestions, and an Introduction. By G. A. F. VAN RHYN. 1 vol., 12mo. Paper covers, 50 cents; cloth, 75 cents.

"A very convenient manual is Dr. Van Rhyn's 'What and How to Read.' It gives a classified list of the best books published in England and America during the past five years, with critical remarks and suggestions. The classification is quite accurate, and the selection of books judicious. The volume will be useful alike to those who read for information and those who read for amusement. The price of each volume is also given, so that book-buyers at a distance from large towns can know the cost of the works they order."—New-York Sun.

LEE & SHEPARD, Boston, publish:

"A delight for the boys."

Oliver Optic's New Story, Ocean-Born;
Or, the Cruise of the Yachts. By "The Monarch of Story Realm." Completing the Yacht Club Series. 1 handsome vol., 16mo, illustrated, $1.50.

The Boston Journal calls this "A wide-awake book."
The Boston Herald says "The boys will be delighted with it."
The New-York Commercial Advertiser thinks "The incidents are more romantic than those of the other volumes."
The Saturday Evening Gazette declares the incidents of the story romantic, and says it is likely to prove among the chief favorites of its author's productions.

"Full of Frontier Adventure."

Wolf Run;
Or, the Boys of the Wilderness. By ELIJAH KELLOGG, author of "Elm Island Stories," "Whispering Pine Series," etc. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, fully illustrated, $1.25.

The Boston Transcript pronounces this to be "A thrilling tale."
The Boston Gazette says "It is full of perils and adventures, and is excellently adapted to interest boys."
The Hartford Post affirms that "It is as fascinating a story for boys as they have seen in many a day."
The Eastern Argus calls it "A story which will be read with real zest."

Eastern Fruit on Western Dishes.

The Morals of Abou Ben Adhem.
By PETROLEUM V. NASBY (D. R. Locke), author of "Swingin' Round the Cirkle," "Ekkoes from Kentucky," etc. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

The New-York Sunday Times says: "The theme taken in his morals is the making of Ben Adhem into a New-Jersey philosopher. There is a sort of Diedrich Knickerbocker story in the way in which he accounts for the traditions of the philosopher, and he makes the several characters the vehicle for some good satirical sketches upon the foibles of the present generation."

The Boston Journal calls the book "A clever and unique burlesque, in which the various follies and foibles of modern life, with its vices and extravagances, are touched up in lively style."
The Louisville Courier-Journal says "It is a witty and spicy book."
The Boston Transcript finds "The wit and humor of the book frequently provokes laughter."
The Hartford Post says "It is as humorous as can be."

Socialistic, Communistic, Mutualistic, and Financial Fragments.
By WM. B. GREENE. 1 vol., 16mo, cloth, $1.25.

The Boston Traveller says: "These papers, on subjects connected with social and reform topics, are sharp and pungent, and unvaryingly well written."
The Boston Transcript perceives "many good suggestions and not a little good advice herein."
The Boston Journal thinks "Col. Greene writes with vigor and intelligence on social and financial topics."

IN PRESS.

In the Kitchen.
The Cook-Book Par Excellence. By Mrs. ELIZABETH S. MILLER. 4to, cloth, 568 pp.

Mrs. Miller, who is a daughter of the late Gerrit Smith, has prepared a Cook-Book which surpasses all others for the abundance, variety, and clearness of its receipts. There is no "guess-work" about this cooking. Every article is measured, fully explained, and carefully combined, so that the great questions, What? How much? and How? are answered in the most satisfactory manner.

Childhood.
The Text-Book of the Age. By Rev. W. F. CRAFTS, author of "Through the Eye to the Heart," "Trophies of Song," etc. 1 vol., 12mo, cloth, illustrated.

This volume contains a "Cabinet of Specimens" of childhood's peculiar words and ways of three hundred and sixty carefully selected "Specimens;" a "Childhood's Dictionary," including one hundred unique definitions given by children; and many incidents of child-life, introduced at different points as the data of this science of childhood. Mrs. Crafts writes a chapter on the Kindergarten. It is designed for parents, pastors, teachers, and lovers of childhood. The six hundred brief stories of child-life will make it interesting to children themselves.
